HELD UP BY A SOLDIER

Phil Friedman, an Alexandria Junk Dealer, Robbed of Diamond Ring and $28 in Cash

Another Alexandrian was the victim of a hold-up by a soldier yesterday afternoon about four o'clock. In response to a request to go to what proved to be an unoccupied house to buy a quantity of junk, Phil Friedman, whose place of business is at 1210 King street, this city, was robbed of a diamond ring valued at $125 and $28 in cash.

The report made by Friedman to the police is to the effect that the soldier, who wore an olive drab uniform and a long overcoat, called at his place of business Wednesday and told him there was a quantity of junk in Alexandria county near Clark's Station which he had been authorized to sell. Mr. Friedman was unable to go there at the time and made an appointment for yesterday. Upon arriving at the place the man said he had been told to break into the house, which he did, and after getting inside drew a revolver and forced Friedman to hand over his ring and money. He also took from him his watch and a check for $50, both of which he returned to him saying he did not want them. The robber told Friedman to look him over so he would know him, pointing to one or two boils on his neck as marks of identification.

The soldier is reported to be about 19 years old, five feet six inches high and weight about 140, as near as can be determined.

NEW U. S. DRAFT LISTS.

Pevious Orders Nullified by New Ruling of Marshal Gen. Crowder.

Provost Marshal Gen. Crowder yesterday took the most radical step yet made in revision of the draft regulations.

An entire new set of regulations were made public, comprising a booklet of more than 100 pages. They will govern the selection of every man called to the colors in the future. Thousands of copies are being sent to all local and district boards in the country.

Certain of the regulations go into effect November 20. Others, notably those which govern the process of selection and classification, will not become effective until December 15, when the local boards will begin sending out questionaries to the registered men.

"The new regulations," says a statement by Gen. Crowder, "not only repeal all preceding regulations, but cancel all exemptions and discharges which have been granted by local boards under the recent system. They will restore every man to his original status, and the local board will send a questionnaire to every man who is not in the service."

NEW RULE EFFECTIVE.

People Receiving Liquor for Medicinal Purposes Must Have Certificates.

Under the new regulations, now effective, Virginia takes another step toward a dryer atmosphere and absolute prohibition. By a provision of the federal "bone-dry" law it was permissable to receive liquor in prohibition territories for medicinal purposes and this provision, coupled with the state "one quart" measure, enabled many to become sick for the enjoyment of the cure, it is said.

But with the new regulations now effective, the consignee of a liquor shipment must present a physician's certificate or prescription, properly issued after examination, before the express companies will deliver the shipment. Physicians must attest that the receiver of the liquor is in need of it for medicinal purposes in Richmond.

Agent Mehegan, chief of the local offices of the Southern and Adams Express Companies in Richmond, has issued instructions to all employees of the offices regarding the new regulations and they will be rigidly enforced. Unless the need for whisky is genuine, it is now virtually impossible for Virginians to obtain it from without the state, the traffic being controlled by both federal and state laws.

PROPOSED EXTENSION

Maps and Plans Disclose Course and Connections of Washington and Old Dominion R. R.

The plans of the contemplated railroad extension of the Washington and Old Dominion R. R., for which elaborate surveys were recently made in both Loudoun county and in Jefferson county, West Virginia, were lately disclosed by the filing of plans and maps in Martinsburg, W. Va., by the Williamsport, Nessie and Martinsburg R. R. Co. These plans show that the latter company contemplates building a line from Martinsburg to a point one-half mile north of Charles Town and there connecting with an extension of the Old Dominion line which will pass through Loudoun and cross the mountains either at Harper's Ferry or at Keys Ferry. These maps further show that the route of the West Virginia company will be a direct one of fifteen miles in length from Martinsburg to its connecting terminus near Charles Town.

As is well-known, what is now the Washington and Old Dominion Railroad was originally the Alexandria, Loudoun and Hampshire Railroad, which began the operation of trains between Alexandria and Farmville, Loudoun county, in 1860. It was the purpose of the projectors of this road to extend it to the West Virginia coal fields and make Alexandria a coal depot, or expand the trade the Alexandria Canal had previously made in this city. Just before the outbreak of the civil war the road was extended to Leesburg. At the close of hostilities the road passed first into the hands of one corporation and then another, and it was subsequently seen that Alexandria's dreams were not to be realized. The bulk of the traffic in passengers and freight now enters Washington.

MORE AMERICANS KILLED.

German Shellfire Believed Responsible for Casualties.

With the American Army in France, Nov. 16.—A number of American soldiers have been killed or wounded in the recent shelling of the American trenches by the Germans. One shell which dropped into a trench caused several casualties.

The American artillery fire has been heavy recently, and there is good reason to believe that it has accounted for a considerable number of the enemy.

Major-General Sibert's fifth son is now in the army. Two of his sons are captains, one is a lieutenant and one a West Point cadet, and the General instructed his fifth and youngest son to keep away for the present. He has been advised, however, that his youngest felt he could keep out of the army no longer. He has just enlisted as a private.

Washington, Nov. 16.—A revised report from General Pershing today on the German raid on American trenches November 3, put the killed at three, the wounded at 11 and the missing at 11. The first report was three killed, five wounded and 12 missing.

RAIDER OFF GOOD HOPE.

Disguised as Merchant Vessel—Chases a Dutch Ship.

An Atlantic Port, Nov. 16.—That a German raider, disguised as a merchant vessel, is operating off the Cape of Good Hope in the track of shipping coming to the United States from India, Ceylon and South African ports was reported by the officers of the Dutch steamship Deli, which arrived here yesterday.

The steamship was on the way from Calcutta and Colombo with gunnies, tea, shellac and other merchandise valued at nearly $1,500,000 when she sighted the raider within 50 miles of Capt Town. The bark had a battery of guns slacked on the forward and after decks.

The steamship's captain swung his vessel's stern to the raider and started under forced speed for Cape Town. The raider followed for some distance, but the steamship drew away so rapidly that the bark finally hauled off on another tack.

CHINA TO SEND ARMY.

Celestials to Dispatch Three Divisions for Service on West Front

Tokyo, Nov. 16.—Following closely the announcement that China will send troops to the western front in Europe, the Japanese Government announces that Japan will supply arms and ammunition to China along with officers to completely reorganize and reform the fighting force of the Oriental republic.

In return, China is to furnish the raw material which will be turned into ordnance. The negotiations are to be carried out in the form of a loan from Japan to China, and the Peking Government has already placed an order with the Taihei Company of Japan for supplies for a model army division, the supplies to cost $15,000,000. The Chinese Government has announced that it will send three divisions of troops to Europe, and the initial order from Japan is considered only the first of many.

The first supply will consist of 120 field guns, 60 mountain guns, 20,000 rifles and a number of machine guns.

China has the man power, the raw materials and the willingness to learn, while Japan has the mastery of modern warfare, the machines for turning out war supplies, the skilled workmen and the trained officers. While none of the Japanese army has yet participated in the warfare of Europe, army observers from the empire have been scattered throughout the war theatres, and the lessons which they have learned are to be transmitted to the soldiers at home and then to their neighbor, China.

Injuries sustained on Halloween night when he was struck over the head, supposedly by a companion, proved fatal to Henry J. Chenoweth, 11 years old, who died at his home in Baltimore yesterday morning from spinal meningitis. A post-morten examination revealed a fracture at the base of the skull.

Chenoweth left home early on Halloween night, and as he was walking along the street he was felled by a blow, supposed to have been dealt by a companion with a stocking filled with sand. He apparently was not injured and continued playing. Two days later he developed symptoms of malarial fever and was taken to the Fanklin Square Hospital.

An X-ray examination showed that he was suffering from meningitis and he was taken home.

U-BOATS NEED AID OF GOD

Kaiser Confident They Will Never Rest Until Enemy is Subdued.

Amsterdam, Nov. 16.—The German Emperor, according to a Berlin dispatch, in addressing the U-boat crews in the Adriatic and referring to the development of the submarines, said that a voyage of three or four weeks now was an every-day occurrence, and declared that the development of the U-boats had not reached its highest point. He expressed gratification at the amount of tonnage sunk in the Mediterranean, which he said showed that the U-boats had fulfilled what had been expected of them. Submarine warfare would have a decisive part in the final outcome of the war, the Emperor declared, and would not be stopped until the enemy was vanquished.

The Emperor concluded: "I am certain that our submarines will never rest until the enemy is subdued. But for this we need, as well as the power of man, the aid of God."

HAIL OF JAGGED STEEL.

Great British Artillery Machine in Action, an Inferno of Noise and an Appalling Spectacle.

With the British Army in Belgium, Nov. 16.—The forces of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria have made their first pretentious effort to regain Passachendaele village, in accordance with the edict of Field Marshal von Hindenburg that the place should be recaptured, and have failed.

The enemy's attack, made yesterday afternoon against positions on the crest of the ridge north of the Hamlet, was attempted with large forces and was a most determined effort to retake this gem of their defenses, but the assaulting troops were hurled back after a grim struggle, leaving the British line before Passchendaele intact.

The greater part of the enemy infantry was stopped by the tremendous British artillery barrage, which ployed through their ranks as they began the advance; but some of them answering to that famous discipline, ingrained by Prussian military rule, pushed through this rain of death and reached the British front line.

A sanguinary struggle followed at close quarters. The Germans battled doggedly, but the British soldiers flung themselves upon the enemy with such ferocity that he was compelled to give ground and finally retired, leaving many dead upon the barren crest.

WHY MILK IS SCARCE.

Government's Enormous Purchases of the Condensed Article.

Philadelphia, Nov. 16.—Purchase by the United States government of enormous quantities of condensed milk for the use of the American troops in France is largely responsible for the shortage of milk and high prices, according to large milk dealers here.

"Condensers all over the country," said C. H. Supplee, proprietor of the Supplee Alderney Dairies, "are reaching into the milk districts and grabbing all the milk they can get. The government has given them huge Army orders and these orders must be filled."

A shortage of milk is being felt acutely in all sections of the country, Mr. Supplee said. He added that he had received urgent requests for milk and cream from Chicago and New York, but had to turn them down.

UNDER AUTO FOR HOURS.

Two Queen Anne's Countains Severely Injured Near Easton.

Easton, Md., Nov. 16.—W. F. Watson, clerk of the Court for Queen Anne's county, and James Faulkner met with an accident about midnight Wednesday night near Wye Mills, on the State road leading from Easton to Centreville. They were returning to their homes in Centreville when the stearing gear of their automobile broke and they ran into a fence. The car was upset and the occupants pinned beneath it. They remained in that condition for several hours, when they were found by State Insurance Commissioner W. Mason Shehan and Fred Freeman. They were put in Mr. Shehan's car and brought to the Emergency Hospital here. Both men are in a critical condition. Mr. Watson's collar bone and several ribs are broken and he probably is hut internally. Mr. Faulkner has a number of ribs broken and is badly bruised.

LYNCHERS EASILY BLUFFED.

They Demand Surrender of Alleged Triple Murderer, But Back Down.

Parsons, Kans., Nov. 16.—Twenty automobile loads of Parsons citizens drove to Oswego, Kan., yesterday and insisted that Sheriff James Elam turn over to them the man held there in connection with the murder Tuesday of Mrs. H. O. Wick, her son and a daughter. When the Sheriff refused to meet their demands, the men quietly returned home.

The condition of Genevieve Wick, the only survivor of the four who were shot in their beds by a man wearing a white mask, was improved today.

FAMILIES TO GET PART

Compulsory Allotment at Camp Lee Plan to be Put in Operation This Morning.

Camp Lee, Va., Nov. 16.—The government's provision to assure the families of National Army men from being in want during the period of service of the soldiers, goes into effect this month, and the men of the division were yesterday notified through their company commanders that compulsory allotments for their people would be deducted from the pay they will receive at the end of the month. Under the provisions of the war risk insurance law each man will be required to allot a specific amount monthly, depending on the size of his family, but in no case shall it be less than $15.

This has been done to make it impossible that want and distress shall come to the wives, children or widowed mothers of the troops. Not only will the relatives of the soldiers receive the allotments made by them, but a fund has been set aside by the government from which it will pay to the families an amount equal to that which is allotted to them. This will bring them a monthly amount of not less than $30, and it can go as high as $100, and perhaps more.

Already the men have signified their intention of making voluntary allotments for their families, and when this is done the government adds dollar for dollar. The compulsory allotments apply to wives, children and widowed mothers, and there is no question about these being made by the men. For sisters, brothers, fathers, or in the cases of other relatives the allotments are left with the individual soldier.

"STRATEGIC RETREAT."

Ninety-one Divisions Wasted in Vain Effort to Stem Onrush of Allies. According to Reports.

With the British Armies in Flanders, Nov. 16.—German newspapers found on recently captured prisoners show the Kaiser's government is preparing the public for another "strategic retreat" on the west front.

Captured German officers admit the German high command entertains the fear that a retirement for a distance "of several miles" may be necessary by recent British advances.

Data now in possession of the British staff shows that Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria in two months has exhausted ninety-one German divisions (nearly 1,365,000 men) in defending, vainly, the Passchendaele ridge and in fruitless counter attaks.

In a similar period of about two months the Germans, during the battle of the Somme, used eighty-six divisions (1,290,000 men).

The inspired articles in German newspapers preparing the public mind for retirement on the west front, show the German staff's realization that its man power is fast waning.

TO HELP THE SOLDIERS

Practical Talks Given at Meeting Held in Elks' Home Last Night Concerning War Work.

The meeting held last night in the auditorium of the Elks' Home in the interest of the work being done for the soldiers by the Young Men's Christian Association, attracted an interested audience. Judge J. K. M. Norton called the assemblage to order. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Dr. E. B. Jackson of the First Baptist church, after which Judge Norton introduced the Rev. Wm. J. Morton, rector of Christ Episcopal church, the Rev. Dr. P. P. Phillips, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church and the Rev. Dr. John Lee Allison of the Second Presbyterian church, each of whom spoke most interestingly concerning the need of the efforts that are being made to shield the men in the camps in this country as well as those across the water from the evil with which they are surrounded. Dr. Phillips referred to a visit which he recently made to the Fort Myer camp and of what he personally witnessed there, and gave his hearty endorsement to the work, as did each of the other gentlemen.

They were followed by Hon. R. Walton Moore, of Fairfax county, who also gave his endorsement in most earnest terms. He gave his personal assurance that Fairfax county would subscribe for its apportionment, $3,200 and expressed the hope that Alexandria and every section of Virginia would do equally as well in helping the cause.

The necessity for liberal giving on the part of the people may be realized to some extent when it is remembered that there are now 24,000,000 men in arms under the flags of the allies. Blanks on which to subscribe were given out to those in attendance at last night's meeting. Private W. F. Nuten, of the Fourth Battalion of the Canadians, who was wounded at Flanders, was present. He will speak at the First Baptist church Sunday morning and at the Second Presbyterian in the evening.

A TRIANGULAR SMASH.

Touring Car Collides With Auto Truck and Buggy on Duke Street extended Early Last Night.

About half-past eight o'clock last night while a buggy in charge of Charles R. Recker, was proceeding west on Duke street extended near the overhead bridge, an auto truck, in charge of Lewis Donaldson proceeding in the same direction, attempted to pass the buggy. Donaldson was compelled to run close to the south side of the thoroughfare, and in doing so sideswiped the buggy, breaking several spokes in one of the wheels. At this juncture a high powered touring car loomed up in front. The car, which was filled with passengers, and proceeding east, collided with the truck and buggy, overturning the truck and injuring Donaldson.

The operator of the touring car put on additional power and was soon out of sight. Donaldson was taken to the Alexandria Hospital for treatment. His injuries are not serious.

NO UNJUST DEMANDS.

Gompers Warns That Workers Will Strike Unless Treated Right.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 16.—If employers in munitions plants and shipyards make unjust demands on the workers nothing can be done by the American Federation of Labor to settle strikes, President Samuel Gompers said yesterday. "I cannot set an arbitrary rule of settlement for such strikers," he said, "and if I did I could not enforce it. Conditions causing the strike must be considered and their settlement must hinge on co-operation of all the parties involved. We will do all we can to co-operate with the government. My sentiments in this matter are the same as those expressed by President Wilson, when he spoke at the opening meeting of the federation."

SUNDAY LAW UPHELD.

That the Sunday closing law shall be enforced in Virginia is indicated by an opinion handed down yesterday by the Virginia supreme court of appeals. All sections of the state are affected in the decisions.

In Ellis vs. The Town of Covington, the supreme court sustained the imposition of a fine for selling soft drinks Sunday, the ordinances of the town and the state law being upheld.

The enforcement of the Sunday law becomes an issue in Alexandria about every decade. In 1916, it will be remembered, a crusade against transacting business on Sunday was inaugurated here, and policemen, undertakers, newspaper men, street cleaners who worked after twelve o'clock Saturday night, ice dealers, newspaper carriers, milk dealers, electric railway men, and many others were cited to appear in the Police Court and show cause why they should not be fined for violating the state law. Seventy-eight cases were on the docket when the court convened and the were disposed of in twenty-eight minutes. The accused were examined in platoons—that is all the milk dealers were arrayed and but one questioned when the bunch was dismissed. The same procedure was inaugurated in the cases of ice dealers, newspaper men, street cleaners, etc.

Fines were imposed in but few cases, and most of the accused noted appeals. The justice in summing up the cases read the law which contains the words, "Except in cases of necessity," which exonerated the mass of those who had been cited to appear.

WOMAN ON THE WOOLSACK

A few days ago a new departure in the legal zone, inaugurated in Alexandria, startled the Old Dominion. A well-known and popular young woman of this city, who had been a notary public and more recently Deputy Clerk of the Court, was called upon to take her place in the jury box in the trial of a case in the Circuit Court. But eleven men had responded to the sergeant's summons, and the lawyers in the case agreeing, the woman was selected to fill in the gap. The men on the jury forthwith elected her forewoman, and she later handed in the verdict.

It seems that other sections are inclined to go still further in utilizing women in courts.

A woman occupied the bench in Media, Pa., one day this week, when Judge Johnson was called away in a case involving the taking of a deposition. The call came as John Lynch was about to be heard, so he could hurry back to Camp Meade. Miss Margaret Burke, a notary public and stenographer for Attorney W. R. Fronefield, had been called on to swear in the witness, and the Judge turned the case over to her.

Occupying the Judge's seat Miss Burke not only swore the witness, but listened while the deposition was being taken and attorneys stood around and asked questions.

The court crier, realizing there was a new Judge on the bench, and wanting to go home to his dinner turned to Judge Burke and said: "Your honor, may I have permission to leave the court room, as I wish to go to my dinner," and Judge Burke graciously gave the permission.

EARNED THEIR NAME.

When German troops were leaving for China the Kaiser made them the most infamous speech that was ever delivered to supposedly civilized soldiers, urging them to act like Huns and to leave such a reputation behind them that the Chinese would never cease trembling at the name of German. It was a direct incitement to the soldiers to loot and ravish and murder.

And the German troops obeyed the orders of their War Lord. In his reminiscences General James H. Wilson describes the atrocities of some of the troops of the European Powers, but in deference to a nation with which this country was on friendly terms he did not mention the Germans in print. In conversation, however, he said that it was the German troops to which he referred, and there is unquestionable evidence of this.

Chinese people were murdered and women were outraged, and remonstrances to the German officers only elicited the indifferent reply that, of course, soldiers did such things and that there was no use in paying attention to them. So today as an exchange observes, the Germans commit unutterable barbarisms and, when remonstrated with, either laugh or say, "It is war." Finally, the Germans began the systematic looting of the sacred Chinese observatory, the instruments of which are now proudly displayed in Berlin. General Chaffee, of the American forces, then wrote to Count Waldersee, commander-in-chief of the allied troops:

"I have the honor to inform your Excellency that my Government would vehemently denounce an officer of its service who might enter upon spoliation of this sort, and it will sincerely regret to learn that any nation with which it co-operated to relieve the besieged legation in Peking authorizes or permits its troops to injure or remove any instruments or other part of the observatory."

Of course, the Count was indignant that any one should object to the German habit of plundering. He replied:

"I have the honor to respectfully inform you that I am very much astonished at the form and contents of your letter of December 3. I am not in a position to stand those expressions, and I take the liberty to herewith return your letter."

BATTLE OF PETROGRAD.

With the Russian capital in flames and the conditions of riot and revolt of terror proportions, the situation in the capital of the one-time domain of the Czar is far from being a pleasing spectacle to view, even as spectacles go in this world war of ravage and rapine.

The Baltimore American suggests the Kerensky that will evolve from the turmoil will be a different Kerensky from that which fled the capital to avoid arrest by the Bolsheviki.

It will be a Kerensky with iron in his blood and with his realistic ideas pared down to need of absolute force for the conduct of a country that cannot otherwise be brought to a state of settlement. With virtually all of the country under his sway except sections of the capital, and with these about subjugated, Kerensky looms once more in the lurid flames of the burning capital as the man for the exigency for Russia.

In contrast comes the story of the peasants of Siberia proclaiming their independency and the Czar Nicholas as their ruler. Russia united under Kerensky, Russia divided and lost under the parti-colored factions—this is the line of alternative destiny for the riven land!

AIRPLANES OVER JERUSALEM.

The airplane is flying over Bethlehem and dropping bombs on the retreating Turks. How strange that sounds! observes the Ohio State Journal. One time the heavenly host sang "Peace on earth, good will to men," and now the airplane is carrying the message across the plains where the shepherds watched their flocks and heard the glad refrain. Surely, this war is making great changes when the very heavens are telling the murderous Turks to get out of the land of holiest memories. It is strange to think of dropping a shell on Calvary, and yet it belongs to the great lesson of sacrifice taught on that rocky mount. The boys in the air are simply offering their lives for humanity, and thus they are learning the lesson taught on that eventful day nearly 2,000 years ago. It is all a part of religion, whose cornerstone is sacrifice. The Turks will have to get out of that historic land and leave it to freedom and the Son. That is the meaning of the airplane over Palestine, which is only a glimpse of this terrible war.

TEUTONIC CRIMES.

Atrocities of the Huns Fire Fighting Spirit of Manhood

Atrocities committed by the Germans against humankind and civilization and warfare have served to stir the blood of young Americans to fighting heat. That is the view of Lieutenant Charles Chapman, in charge of the army recruiting station which plans the steadily increasing volume of applications for enlistment.

"It was just such an incentive this country needed," said the general recruiting officer. "Authentic reports told by the German girl, a former resident of Richmond, who was driven by an order of the kaiser's government officials to sacrifice her honor by going to the camp of the German soldiers, arouse the fighting spirit in our young men. We see the effects in recruiting. Never before have the applicants for enlistments been so eager to get into actual service as now.

"If the young men of America were better informed about the treatment the Germans accord their enemies this country would be better off. We are fighting the most barbarous, cruel, cunning, ruthless enemy any Christian nation ever had to contend with. German cruelties practiced in this war surpass the most inhuman practices in the history of the world. Old Nero was a paragon of benevolence in comparison with the kaiser. The war records to which we have been given access are sufficient to show that the Germans in war are capable of the most inhuman crimes conceivable.

"Life would be a curse to us in this country if the Hun conquered us. Many of us must suffer and many of us will die in a foreign country, but that is necessary in order to keep the war on the other side of the ocean.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

An animated discussion ensued at the Virginia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South in Lynchburg yesterday morning over a memorial to the general conference, to give the church conference the right to elect delegates to the district conferences, thus taking the power from the preachers. A vote had not been reached when a motion to defer further discussion until today prevailed. The Rev. W. W. Royall offered a memorial to change the discipline to enable women to be elected delegates to the conferences and to hold the office of stewards. This went to a committee.

Edgar Brown, employed upon the farm of Mr. L. Clark Hoge near Purcellville, Loudoun county, narrowly escaped death a day or two ago, when he was attacked and badly gored by an infuriated bull. Mr. Hoge, who was nearby and witnessed the attack rushed to the fence and reaching over, lifted Mr Brown to safety just in time to save him from being gored to death. Although Mr. Brown sustained many painful bruises, his injuries are not considered serious.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Georges Clemenceau, the Tiger, as he is known in French politics, yesterday accepted the post of premier of France and began his choice of a cabinet to succeed the ministry headed by Professor Painleve. Clemenceau is a former premier.

A. D. Farrell, superintendent of the G. W. Johnson Limestone Company, of Newcastle, Pa., was held up by highwaymen and wounded yesterday while he was on his way to Hillsville to pay the company's employes. The bandits killed Tony Stacks, a guard, and escaped with $17,000. Fifteen minutes after the robbery a posse found the body of one of the bandits with a bullet wound in his abdomen. In a box clenched in the dead man's hand was found $4,700. It is believed he was killed in a fight among the bandits over the division of the spoils. Less than ten minutes later another posse surrounded a tree in which one of the bandits had hidden. When he refused to come down a member of the posse fired. The man fell with a bullet wound in his mouth. He had $4,000 in his possession.

On the lower and middle Piave the Italians today stood fast, but their forces protecting the northern pivot of the river line, though fighting valiantly, were pressed back during the last twenty-four hours. The relentless Teuton pressure, west of where the Piave turns sharply to the northeast, has cut seven miles out of the Italian Piave line and the menace from this direction to General Diaz's forces admittedly is growing hourly.

Two members of the civilian crew of the American steamship Rochester were killed when the vessel was torpedoed November 2. Forty-seven of the crew and armed guard escaping in three small boats. One of the boats, containing Capt. Eric Kokeritz, sixteen of his crew and five naval gun crew, drifted at the mercy of the seas for five days before it was picked up by a British patrol vessel. The two other boats are reported to have landed safely.

Fresh advances of General Allenby's British troops, which bring them to a point little more than twelve miles west of Jerusalem, are reported. The Egyptian expeditionary army is now holding the railway line in the vicinity of Naaneh and Nausura, including the junction of the railway line to the Holy City.

The Protestant Episcopal convention in session in New York yesterday went on record as favoring prohibition during the war. The action was taken because it had been reported that the convention had tabled a prohibition resolution Wednesday.

A revolution has broken out in Ecuador. The rebels have taken Pueblo Viejo, Caracoal and Cataran. Many have been killed and wounded.

The War Department has distributed orders for about 21,000,000 shells for seventy-five millimeter field pieces and anti-aircraft guns.

The Bavarian government, in order to effect better utilization of water power and electricity and to save coal has decided to transfer the Sunday holiday to another day of the week. This has stirred up a hornet's nest. The Catholic clergy have protested most energetically and are supported by the Protestants. Catholic labor unions have held a big meeting of protest. Only the socialist unions acquiesce.

An American steamer was reported sunk off the Canary Islands by a torpedo, November 7, and another, also by torpedo, off the Algerian coast near Djidielli, on Nov. 9, according to a report by the United States hydrographic office at New York. Names of the vessels are not given.

Under pressure of the third degree, Emil Catalona, of Paterson, suspected slayer of Stephen Casa—headless murder victim—admitted yesterday that the killing occurred in his apartment. He told the police that Casa was slain by two white slavers from New York when he refused to agree to sell his wife to them.

TWO THOUSAND SLAIN.

Anarchy in Moscow, Accompanied by Mob Violence Against Lens.

London, Nov. 16.—Two thousand persons had been killed in street fighting in Moscow up to noon Tuesday, according to reports brought here by travelers arriving at the Russo-Swedish frontier, as forwarded in press dispatches from Stockholm.

In Kiev and various other towns anarchy prevails to an astonishing degree, accompanied by mob violence against Jews, these reports say.

An agreement is said to have been reached at Moscow among the Socialistic parties to form a coalition government, including some Bolsheviki.

According to press reports from Stockholm, travelers who arrived Wednesday evening in Haparanda, Sweden, from Finland, say rumors are current there that Petrograd is in flames.

Miss Lola Smith was arrested as she left a Norfolk boat in Baltimore yesterday, and is being held for the Norfolk authorities, charged with grand larceny. Miss Smith met a sea captain in Norfolk three weeks ago, and shortly afterward they were engaged to be married. The captain was ordered to sail for Brazil, when Lola changed her mind. She feared the ocean and submarines, she said, so she came back to Baltimore. No details were given of the charge, but the girl admits the captain lavished presents upon her, and the arrest is believed to have been a result of the girl taking them away with her.
